DISCOVER HOME. HERE in WAYNE COUNTY.
Dear future teammate,

Home is a small word with big meaning. Here at Wayne UNC Health Care, we’re proud to call Goldsboro home. For more than 100 years, Wayne UNC has been serving the health needs of Wayne County and beyond.

But, Goldsboro, North Carolina is more than just a hospital. It’s a community, rooted in history and culture that is blossoming into a vibrant and growing region. You’ll find Goldsboro is home to dozens of local and national retailers, restaurants including well-known chains and unique culinary experiences you’ll only find here in Goldsboro.

Our community also offers a variety of public and private school options, as well as local and regional institutions dedicated to higher education and ongoing professional training.

With more than 4,600 airmen and 6,000 of their dependents residing in Wayne County at Seymour Johnson Air Force base, we welcome friends and neighbors from all parts of our country and state.

Whether you are single or married, raising your children or an empty nester, Goldsboro has something for everyone, from neighborhoods situated near shopping, activities and restaurants, to acres of land, giving you privacy and space.

At Wayne UNC, we’re elevating the standard of health care for Wayne County. Our vision calls us to recruit and retain top talent. As you consider where to share your talents and build your career, we hope you’ll consider calling Goldsboro home.

With Respect,

Janie Jaberg
Wayne UNC Health Care
President & CEO
WHERE FREEDOM TAKES FLIGHT.

The military is an intricate part of the life and history of Goldsboro and Wayne County. Seymour Johnson Air Force Base is home to the 4th Fighter Wing and the 916th Air Refueling Wing. The airmen stationed there are our neighbors, friends, clients and patients. In fact, it's not uncommon to see them in uniform at the grocery store or pass them on the streets of downtown.

4,600
Airmen

6,000
Family Members

1,000
Civilians

882
Reservists
Downtown Goldsboro is quickly being reborn and transformed. Expanded sidewalks, added green space and improved roadways, has and continues to attract new businesses, restaurants and events every day. By investing in a thriving downtown, the City of Goldsboro is making it clear that improving our community for citizens and visitors alike is priority number one.

DOWNTOWN: A RENAISSANCE in THE MAKING.
Creativity is ingrained in the city of Goldsboro where concerts, musical and film events are a regular occurrence. From the Paramount Theatre to the Wayne Chapter of the Goldsboro Ballet, Wayne County residents enjoy some of the finest regional performances and national touring acts and productions. Wayne County has a wealth of homegrown creativity as well. Community theater is alive and well at Center Stage Theatre and Stagestruck, the young people’s own theatre. Many of the local shops craft, display and sell their own art and wares. There’s also the Arts Council of Wayne County actively working to ensure that the arts have a valued place in our community.

CREATIVITY LIVES and THRIVES HERE.
Shopping in Wayne County is a unique experience. Here, you’ll find plenty of eclectic boutiques and stores run by local owners who take the utmost pride in the wares they either make, sell or both. Visitors and locals alike enjoy shopping antiques, unique gifts, art, jewelry and much more. Our county is truly a one-stop-shop destination.
Wayne County has several diverse restaurants, brewpubs, bottle and tap stops working together to shape a burgeoning, nightlife scene. Whether your passion is barbecue or sushi, craft brews or home brews, live music or movies, it’s all here for you to enjoy.

- Goldsboro Brew Works
- Jay’s Kitchen
- Wilber’s Barbecue
- Hwy 55 Burgers

Style of Barbecue, Carolina Style

55oz of Burger in the Five Five Burger Challenge at Hwy 55
Wayne County is the sweet spot when it comes to outdoor recreation, day tripping and community involvement. Enjoy nature and stay active by hiking in Cliffs of the Neuse State Park, or dive into jet skiing, ATV driving and camping under the stars at Busco Beach. Volunteer at a countless number of nonprofits including the Boys and Girls Club, Habitat for Humanity and United Way.

3 Golf Courses
13 Parks
5 Miles of Greenway
8 Miles on the Neuse River

Countless Non-Profits and Churches for Involvement

THE GREAT OUTDOORS and A GREAT SENSE of COMMUNITY.
We’re located in the heart of North Carolina farm country with 60% of the county’s land dedicated to agriculture. This comes with several perks like an award-winning, annual county fair and quite a few highly successful 4H clubs. Fill your spring and summer months with trips to strawberry and blueberry farms, trips to pumpkin and apple patches in the fall and winters. Our local farmer’s markets are always stocked with fresh, seasonal produce as well.

Wayne County is committed to offering the best educational opportunities to its residents and businesses. Our local and regional institutions equip students with the knowledge and tools to prepare them for professional careers. From elementary to college, Wayne County is paving various, effective roads to success. We have a large public-school system, affordable private schools, Wayne Community College and the University of Mount Olive.

Colleges within 2 hours:

- UNC
- East Carolina University
- Wayne Community College
- Campbell University
- University of Mount Olive
- NC State

ButterBall
- Home to:
  - Colleages within 2 hours:
  - Wayne County 4H
  - Mt. Olive Pickle Co.

DEEP ROOTS for SEASONS OF GROWTH.

TOP-NOTCH EDUCATION at EVERY LEVEL.

WAYS NE COUNTY 4H

EASTERN WAYNE HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION
From festivals to concerts to shows, there is always something exciting happening year-round in Wayne County. In the spring, residents and visitors flock to the Wings of Wayne Air Show – a biannual event at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base. Featuring aircraft displays and demonstrations, this well-known and popular event has been named Event of The Year for 2018 by the NC Association of Events and Festivals. And, that’s not all. We have festivals galore celebrating everything from pickles to daffodils to poultry. All summer long, you’ll find just about everyone jamming out at the free concert series, Center Street Jams. When fall rolls in, so does the Wayne County Fair, a Thriller-inspired, Halloween celebration and our very own Veterans Parade. We also end the year on a festive note with Light’s Up, the annual holiday lighting of downtown Goldsboro.
With 12 townships and seven municipalities, Wayne County is a beautiful tapestry of welcoming communities and tightly-knit neighborhoods. In the burgeoning city of Goldsboro alone, there are a variety of dynamic neighborhoods where you and your family can settle in and enjoy the good life. From downtown apartment living to comfortable, suburban bungalows to historic mansions on the outskirts of town, Goldsboro and the surrounding areas boast a variety of housing options for a variety of tastes. Some popular neighborhoods include Pill Hill, Herman Park and Walnut Creek.

Municipalities:
- Goldsboro
- Mt. Olive
- Fremont
- Pikeville
- Village of Walnut Creek
- Seven Springs
- Eureka
In Wayne County, creature comforts close at hand coexist peacefully with our small-town charm. You can grab a cup of your favorite coffee just as easily as you can enjoy the rolling countryside. Get away from it all just as quickly as it takes to get to the convenience of a bustling shopping center. Life moves about as fast or as slow as you want it to. Here in Wayne, discover what you want and need to build a life that suits you in every way. We’re home to a number of well-known grocery chains, retail stores, big-box retailers, banks, restaurants, movie theaters and more.

- Target
- T.J. Maxx
- Lowe’s
- Bed Bath & Beyond
- Harris Teeter
- Starbucks
- Panera Bread
- Olive Garden
To learn more about employment opportunities with Wayne UNC, visit waynehealth.org.